FREEDOM . . .

"to be yourself
your true self
here and now . . ."
Jonathan Livingston Seagull

. . . to find your Self
here and now
through the paths
shared with others

. . . to share that Self through the
love, joy, and peace
that come with

the FREEDOM to say FIAT . . .
Be it done . . .
Nothing stands in the way.

Freedom Of Authority

Dear Girls,

You yourselves have often described your school as a freedom-giving place, a learning community with as few restrictive rules as possible. And you liked it that way!

Your yearbook theme, "Freedom," reminds us of this characteristic of the Class of '74. You need only look at your first year at Ancilla Domini to see how you HAVE grown in freedom to be yourselves, to share yourselves, to give of yourselves kindly and responsibly.

I am confident that you will carry beyond A.D.A. the foundation of a strong character, loving and responsible. May the Wholly Free Woman, Mary, the Mother of Christ, lead you in this worthy life-task.
